By Gary King
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Quad City area residents helped Ron Achenbach to surpass his Old Newsboys Day goal on Nov. 19.

Achenbach pledged to sell 1,000 newspapers for the charity drive, a task that appeared difficult, but the public was behind him.

Achenbach, a representative of United Steel Workers Local 16, gathered 17 other Old Newsboys and positioned them at various entrances to Granite City Steel.

The result was 1,200 copies sold, and $1,055.06 in funds raised for local charities.

Not a bad day at the office, Achenbach said.

"Everybody enjoys it (Old Newsboys Day), and we obviously don't have any trouble selling the newspapers," said Achenbach, an Old Newsboys Day veteran of three years.

In 1985, Achenbach said he sold 500 Old Newsboys copies at Granite City Steel. Last year, he sold 600 copies. He doubled last year's sales this year.

"I remember thinking last year, 'Boy, I wish we had more

Stricter meeting rules proposed for council

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The way the City Council conducts its business would change if an ordinance amending the city's municipal code is approved.

But some aldermen want ordinance for amendments amended. The proposed amended code was discussed at the council's Nov. 24 meeting.

The changes would strengthen the council's committee system and would disallow items discussed or brought to a vote that are not on the agenda. It would also limit debate and place constraints on citizens who want to address the council.

One potentially controversial item gives the mayor authority to evict any alderman who violates council rules. The clause would be enforced by the police chief, who attends council meetings.

Another clause bans aldermen during council meetings from leaving their seats or talking to each other without the mayor's permission.

The amended code is designed to cut down on the time it takes to conduct council meetings, said 6th Ward Alderman Walter Milton, who chairs the ad-hoc committee that formulated and recommended the code changes.

"The point is to make it more professional," Milton said.

But 1st Ward Alderman Casmer Skubish said he was concerned about the eviction clause and limiting debate time. "The new code would limit to 30 minutes discussion on any issue coming before the council and no alderman would be able to speak more than twice, for three minutes each time, on any issue. It would take a two-thirds majority of the council to extend debate."

"There is no debate limit now," Skubish said.

"Are we allowing ourselves enough time to debate the serious questions that come before us?" Skubish said.

Skubish said he was also concerned about a mayor becoming "paranoid" and evicting an alderman unnecessarily.

"Do we want to be evicted?" Skubish asked fellow aldermen.

"I don't know of a single alderman who has ever been evicted from a meeting."

Skubish said he thought the new code would give the mayor more authority at a time when the mayor already has broad appointment powers.

One clause would not allow ordinances or communications to come before the council if the items are not filed with the city clerk before 3 p.m. on the Thursday before the council's Tuesday meetings.

A two-thirds council majority would be required to allow a citizen to speak if he did not make the agenda deadline.

This clause may hamper the council, said 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney. Partney said problems come up in the city that need immediate council attention.

Partney also questioned a section of the code that allows the mayor to vote on all expenditures. The mayor normally votes only to break a tie or sustain a majority.

City Attorney Mark Goldenberg said the passage is based on a state statute.

"The mayor has always been allowed to vote," Goldenberg said. "My interpretation is that the only time the mayor votes is when there is a question of majority. It's putting into words what has always existed."

The passage reads that appropriations "Require the concurrence of the majority of all members elected to the council, including the mayor."

The new code may actually be less efficient than the way the council now handles its meetings, Partney said.

"I think we're bogging ourselves down with a lot of protocol," Partney said. "The way it was presented tonight, I have to vote against it."

But the council did not vote on the measure. Action was deferred on the new code by 7th Ward Alderman Jeff Worthen. Worthen did not say why he deferred action.

Milton said the discussion about the new code at the council meeting was an example of why the code was needed. He said, the aldermen should have

District to get more money

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — District 9 will get an additional $85,596.99 in state funds, said Norm Owca, the district's financial director.

Owca said he was recently informed by the state about the amount of funds the district would receive. The additional money is a result of legislative approval Nov. 6 of $16 million in general state aid for schools. Legislators restored about one-fourth of the sum for education that was cut this summer by Gov. Jim Thompson.

Earlier this month, Owca estimated that the district might receive an extra $259,129 in state aid due to the legislative action. The additional money will mean the deficit in the district's education fund will drop from $887,002 to $732,672, Owca said.

Though getting additional state aid, the district will have to use money from fund balances, built up during the past two years, to balance the education fund.

Spending in that fund for fiscal 1988 is projected at $94,322.01 and revenues at $23,508,822, according to a budget passed by the School Board in September. A recent audit of district funds, performed by Peat Marwick Main and Co., shows that revenue in the education fund exceeded expenses last year by $456,060, Owca said.

It doesn't appear as if the district will receive another state aid this year, Owca said.

"If we do get any more revenue, it would certainly be a windfall," he said.

Santa arrives in village Dec. 21

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

PONTOON BEACH — Santa Claus and his helpers will arrive at the Village Hall at 6 p.m. Monday, Dec. 21. It was announced at the Board of Trustees meeting Tuesday.

Escorting him will be a fire truck and members of the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department, said Fire Chief Danny Kreher.

Shortly after 6 p.m. Dec. 21, Santa will make his traditional tour through the village, distributing boxes of candy to the children.

The trustees agreed to purchase 1,700 boxes of candy, the same amount distributed last Christmas to village residents.

The board also authorized issuing a one-month business license at a cost of $5 to Mark Reeder to operate a Christmas tree lot on the Certified Welding property at 4225 Illinois 111.

The license allows Reeder to operate from Dec. 1 until Jan. 1. He plans to sell Christmas trees, pine wreaths and grave mats, he said.

The village ordinance governing business licenses sets an annual fee of $25.

Trustee Carl Hackney questioned charging Reeder the full amount for one month's operation and Trustee Louis Whitsell reminded the board the same problem came up when trustees were asked what fees would be charged persons wishing to sell items at a weekend flea market.

It was agreed to rewrite the licensing ordinance to create a temporary license category.

Businesses operating in Pontoon Beach will be reminded to collect a full one-cent village sales tax on each $1 sale.

The Illinois Department of Revenue notified officials July 1 that a full cent in sales tax for each $1 in sales will be reimbursed to the village, instead of three-quarter cents, said Clerk Mary Warren.

Trustees also approved paying a $40 registration fee for the mayor and board members attending a Fundamentals of Economic Development seminar at Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville.

The seminar, recommended by Norman Hall, Illinois Power marketing supervisor and a Namecki Township trustee, is scheduled from 2:30 to 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 9, at SIUE.

AGB Television Research, a national TV rating service, shortly will visit randomly selected homes in the village, said Warren, reporting a letter received by the village.

An interviewer with appropriate credentials and identification will select homes, with one out of seven households invited to join the service as a rating viewer, she said. Further details will be announced, Warren reported.

AIDS prevention to enter school health education

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

VENICE — Students in grades six through 12 will soon receive instruction in the prevention, transmission and spread of AIDS.

The instruction is required by state law to be included in health education programs starting in January. Students are not required to take part in any AIDS instruction if parents or guardians submit a written objection to school authorities.

"If we're not ahead of the game, at least we are abreast of it," said Superintendent of Schools-Elect Charles McCaskill. He told the Board of Education on Thursday that a group of teachers had met earlier that day to plan a workshop about AIDS.

McCaskill said the teachers committee was formed to develop an in-service workshop and several mini-workshops dealing with the AIDS problem as it relates to school districts.

"We should be getting policy guidelines from (Regional Superintendent Harry) Briggs' office very soon, but we've already set up a committee of teachers," Mr. McCaskill said.

"So far we're handling it (AIDS) like any communicable disease. A nurse would be of value in the (instruction) program," he said.

"Once we start teaching more about AIDS, the teachers will want to know how far to go and how low in the grades we should go. We will invite board members to attend the workshop," McCaskill said.

"I think it's something the whole community should be talking about," said Board President Wilbert Glasper, about programs dealing with AIDS prevention and teen-age pregnancies.

Venice High School Principal John Rush said students in grades nine through 12 follow the health textbook: "Health, A Way of Life" by Marion B. Pollock.

The principal displayed a copy of the textbook and answered questions about sex education programs.

Rush said Rick Everage is in charge of one-semester health classes at the high school level, and the Urban League has been working with the district in this area for several years.

This semester, Gerald Dennis, an Urban League staff member, is presenting a program dealing with the male's involvement and responsibility in teen pregnancy.

Dennis, who spoke to board members at the October meeting, said the program includes a movie.

"This film shows a good perspective of teen pregnancy from their (kids) point of view," he said.

Parents Too Soon, a program being sponsored by the Mental Health Services of Southern Madison County Inc. in Granite City, is working with female students by providing information, counseling and visits to a health clinic, Rush said.

"What we do have is the bare, basic minimum in sex education," Rush said.

Rush said sex education can

County legislators give stamp of approval to Costello campaign

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Leading Madison County Democratic politicians have given congressional contender Jerry Costello a virtual clean sweep of endorsements.

Costello, St. Clair County Board chairman, was endorsed Monday by three Madison County state-legislators — Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville; Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City; and Rep. Jim McPike, D-Alton.

Several weeks ago, the Democratic Central Committee of Madison County endorsed Costello, who is running for the 22nd Congressional seat to be vacated by the retiring Rep. Mel Price, D-Belleview.

Costello is running against Madison County Auditor Pete Fields and Mike Mansfield, a Belleville Democrat who is Price's top aide and is being supported by Price.

In the endorsement announcement at Charlie's Restaurant, Costello said his campaign would now shift to a "grass roots" phase.

Costello said his campaign strategy consists of three phases — collecting money, gaining endorsements and then door-to-door campaigning. He said he has a network of 300 volunteers for the grassroots campaign who would soon begin canvassing the Tri-Cities Area.

Costello has far exceeded Fields and Mansfield in collecting campaign money and has gained the endorsement of almost every Democratic political leader in both counties. He was endorsed last week by U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon.

"We have been working hard," for endorsements, said Costello.

All the state legislators said they thought Costello was the most qualified candidate.

"I don't think we have a better candidate in both counties," Wolf said. He said Costello's involvement with several regional organizations was a key reason for his endorsement.

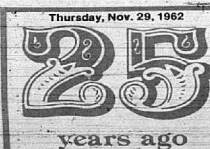

Costello said he doubted if Sen. Paul Simon would offer any candidate an endorsement.

"It's pretty clear that Mr. Costello is the politicians' choice," said Fields.

"It's little to do about how a person votes," Fields said. He said he had not asked for an endorsement from Wolf, Vadalabene or McPike.

"I didn't work hard for endorsements from politicians," Fields said.

Fields said Costello's power base in St. Clair County is much larger than his own in Madison County. He said it has been very difficult to compete with Costello for endorsements.

U.S. A Press-Record editorial read: "The fast, loose and free-spending policy of the East Side Local and Sanitary District is being challenged by a group of Quad-Cities taxpayers, who Wednesday filed suit. We hope the taxpayers suit is successful. We hope Quad-Cities will be saved this $1 million."

Public works official from city honored

The Madison County Board, in conjunction with the judges of the Third Judicial Circuit, honored three area public works officials at the County Board meeting Nov. 18 for their contribution to the Probation Department's Public Service Program.

The awards were presented by the chairman of the County Board, Nelson Hagnauer, and Chief Judge P.J. O'Neill. Bud Gates of the Granite City Sanitation Department was among those recognized for cooperation and dedicated service to the program.

The Public Service Program, coordinated by the Madison County Probation Department, provides the courts with a sentencing alternative that is used in conjunction with probation or in lieu of payment of fines for traffic and misdemeanor offenses. It serves as both a punishment to the offender and a service to the community.

In 1982, the Madison County Board passed a resolution authorizing the establishment of the Public Service Program. The Madison County Board was honored in 1985 by the National Association of Counties for the program's contribution to the cause of strong and efficient government. This success is largely attributed to the cooperation exhibited by the workers and supervisors with the probation department. These sites include city parks, street and public works departments, police departments and county facilities.

Fee for AIDS tests varies

A new state law that will require couples seeking marriage licenses to be tested for AIDS starts Jan. 1, but that state's estimate that the test will cost $6 appears to be an underestimate.

A spokesman for the Illinois Department of Public Health said Wednesday that the $6 cost referred to by legislators only represents the cost of the laboratory test itself, it does not include the cost of the personnel drawing the blood, other laboratory fees or the cost of an office visit to a doctor.

The total cost of a test could range from $15 to $100, the

Nameoki hires humane officer

NAMEOKI — Renee Blockley was hired Monday by the Town Board as humane officer for Nameoki Township.

Blockley, a township resident, will receive $4.30 an hour for the position, said Trustee Joe Garcia. Her salary will increase to $5 an hour after she has worked for 30 days, he said.

Under the terms of a joint agreement made in October with Pontoon Beach, the village will pay half of the costs associated with the position, including Blockley's salary, Garcia said.

Steel company gets grant

Granite City Steel, a division of National Steel, will receive a $50,000 grant from the state for the in-house training of 450 employees.

The grant was announced Tuesday by Kristine Corvelli, director of the Prairie State 2000 Authority, created by the Illinois General Assembly to aid economic development through worker retraining programs.

The money will be used to train employees in oxygen-fuel cutting and are welding of mild steel products.

The new skills will be used to help the company better compete in domestic and foreign steel markets.

The in-house workshops to be held at the steel company will begin Dec. 1 and run through June 30.

The grant to Granite City Steel is one of nine grants, totaling $128,924, awarded to train 962 workers throughout the state.

Retraining jobs by building upon existing strengths is the foundation of economic growth," Corvelli said.

The authority provides funding and technical assistance for programs that familiarize workers with new technologies or train them for different jobs that already exist at their workplace.

Other grants were given to companies in Chicago, Des Plaines, West Chicago, Rockford, Dolton and Kewanee.

IEPA plans suit against firm

GRANITE CITY — A Granite City company is being accused of operating without a state permit.

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency has asked the Attorney General's Office to file a lawsuit against Affiliated Metals Co., a manufacturing company at 1020 Niedringhaus Ave. Affiliated Metals uses a sulfuric acid-steel-pickling process to remove rust from uncoated steel.

The IEPA claims that the company has operated the steel pickling line without an operating permit and that the company has allowed acid mist from the pickling operation to be emitted into the atmosphere, according to an IEPA written statement.

The agency is seeking civil monetary damages.

Social Security number required

According to figures from the Social Security Administration, 10 million children will need to get a Social Security number this year.

Under the 1986 Tax Reform Act, if you claim a dependent 5 years of age or older, you must show the dependent's Social Security number starting with the 1987 federal income tax return.

The Social Security Administration generally needs at least six weeks to process an application for a Social Security number.

However, because of the increase in applications this year, if waiting until the last minute to file the application it could take longer to issue the number and it might not be received in time to meet the April 15 deadline for filing the tax return.

Without the required Social Security number on the return, the Internal Revenue Service may apply a penalty for each required Social Security number not shown on the tax return.

To obtain a Social Security number for a dependent, contact the nearest Social Security office and request a form SS-5, Application for a Social Security Number Card.

A birth certificate or other birth record and proof of identification will be required to obtain the card.

A form SS-5, can also be obtained by calling the IRS toll free telephone number 800-424-3676.

Impact knocks coil from truck; driver injured

Ricky J. Muckensturm, 29, 5100 Sheila Drive, was listed in satisfactory condition Wednesday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, after his car apparently crossed the center line on Missouri Avenue and knocked a coil of steel from a tractor-trailer.

The accident occurred at 2:15 a.m. about a fourth-mile from West Pontoon Road.

The Granite City Rescue Squad was called to free Muckensturm, who was trapped in his car.

The truck driver, T.J. Kleinsorge, Montgomery, Ill., who was going south, said he saw the car coming toward him and tried to pull onto the shoulder of the road to avoid the impact. The car struck both the tractor and the trailer of the truck, causing the steel coil to roll into a field.

At the emergency room, patrolmen asked Muckensturm to take an alcohol test, but he allegedly refused. He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and improper lane usage.

The steel coil was owned by Feralloy Corp., 2300 Nameoki Drive.

Truck jackknives, two vehicles hit

A man was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center after a tractor-trailer jackknifed on Illinois 162 at 4:28 p.m. Nov. 24.

The truck driver, Kenneth W. Mikuleza, 4077 Bruene Ave., Pontoon Beach, was going west on 162, when he said he applied his brakes to avoid a car, which had slowed to make a right turn onto the Lakeside Driving Range.

When the truck jackknifed, it hit the car of Lonnie J. Ahart, 541 Edwards Ave., who was injured, and the pickup truck of Donald R. McCaslin, 3953 Lake St. Ahart and McCaslin said they both drove partially off the highway to try to avoid the truck.

Mark E. Rea, Troy, said he had his right turn signal on when he started to turn into the driving range.

Wants ATV rules enforced

Attorney General Neil Hartigan recently renewed his demands that the U.S. Justice Department take prompt action to enforce safety regulations on all-terrain vehicles.

"A representative of my office met this week in Los Angeles with those of 12 other attorneys general in an effort to get the manufacturers to redesign these vehicles to prevent further deaths and injuries," Hartigan said.

However, this meeting has proven fruitless. Despite strong evidence that these vehicles are dangerous, the manufacturers are still insisting the problem lies in driver error.

"It is now clear that it is going to take court action to force these companies to act."

He said the Consumer Product Safety Commission has completed an 18-month study of ATVs and presented its findings to the Justice Department, but that neither agency has yet acted.

The Los Angeles conference involved American Honda Motor Company Inc., which is the principal manufacturer of ATVs, Yamaha, Kawasaki, Suzuki and Polaris also are ATV manufacturers.

Since 1982 ATVs have been involved in nearly 800 deaths, including 17 in Illinois and more than 300,000 injuries. An ATV is a motorized, off-highway vehicle which travels on three or four low pressure, high flotation tires.

ATVs have a tendency to flip over. Critics blame this on lack of suspension systems, high seats and rear wheel differentials.

"I am joining with other attorneys general in urging the Justice Department to act promptly."

National Family Week held

The last week of November was National Family Week. Parents Plus, a teen parenting prevention program in Madison County, asked the public to reflect upon changes in the American family.

"Parents Plus is a part of Gov. James R. Thompson's Parents Too-Soon Initiative, funded through the Ounce of Prevention Fund, a public-private partnership which promotes the well-being of children with families."

"There is little doubt the American family has changed in the past 15 years," a Parents Plus spokesman said. "Less than 7 percent of U.S. households today fulfill the traditional stereotype of a working husband, housewife mother and two school-age children. Twenty percent of white children and 59 percent of black children live in single parent families. And 11.7 percent of households are supported by a woman with no husband present in the home. Approximately 17 million children are living in step-families."

Other changes taking place in the family include the fact more than 20 percent of all births are to unmarried mothers, many of them in their teens. More people are delaying marriage and the median age of the first marriage is now 25.5 for men and 23.3 for women. After giving birth to an infant, 48 percent of women return to work within a year.

"These changes have given us opportunities to re-examine our attitudes about today's family. We've come to realize that the children of single parents are not necessarily neglected or delayed developmentally. We've seen children of single parent families grow into responsible, secure young people," the spokesman said.

"Single parents juggle many roles, putting their children and careers before their own needs. Many single parents are attending school, working, parenting, and planning a future for themselves and their children when their own lives have been disrupted by unplanned pregnancies and/or divorce."

"As we observe National Family Week and approach the holiday season, we must reflect on and appreciate the uniqueness of the family, whatever its size or form. A family is the special unit that provides the atmosphere for nurturing and growth our children need. And that's a lot to be thankful for in today's America."

Thirty area residents, many of them with physical handicaps, were appointed Tuesday to a new Bi-State Development Agency on the transit needs of the disabled. The appointments were made by Bi-State's Board of Commissioners.

The commissioners also approved the purchase of 57 new buses equipped with wheelchair lifts. The buses will be delivered by late spring.

"This is a very, very big day for Bi-State and the disabled community," said Executive Director Raleigh D'Adamo.

The bus system currently is upgrading the lifts on the agency's 12 lift-equipped buses.

A plan for transporting disabled persons was adopted in August. It calls for expansion of the Call-A-Ride service (beginning Dec. 1) and a service that will pay cab companies to transport disabled riders during hours that Call-A-Ride is not in service.

The U.S. Department of Transportation requires the advisory committee on transportation for the disabled under a 1973 law.

Sixteen committee members are themselves disabled, said C. Wayne Spaul, Bi-State's chairman. Among them is Max Starkloff, founder and executive director of Paraguard, operator of an independent living center for handicapped St. Louisans.

Missourians appointed to the committee are:

Ben Dedeles, computer consultant; Paul Brown, carpenter; Eugene M. Bush, associate director of Productive Living; Sue-laine Matthews, advisor on disabled student services at the brought up their concerns about the code at the ad-hoc committee meetings.

"The opportunity was there for discussion," Milton said.

Milton said he advocated that council be made by aldermen on the committee level and "not on the council floor."

Aldermen would be allowed to address the full council only as a committee chairman or during a question about a motion, under the new code. Another requirement calls for all new council business to be referred to a committee and that no action be taken on new business until the next meeting.

No ordinance would be considered unless it is introduced by the appropriate committee chairman or by a committee chairman.

If the code is violated, aldermen can be fined $10 to $100.

Correction:

"In an article in the Nov. 22 issue of the Granite City Press-Record/Journal, 'Man turns to sister in fight for life,' it was incorrectly reported that Linda Hauser was the sister of Lloyd Green.

The correct name of Green's sister is Sandy Heuser. Green and Heuser are the children of Frank and Myrna Green of Granite City.

AIDS prevention to enter curriculum
Be a sensitive issue.

"But we do have the problem today of teen-age pregnancies, including there. A pregnant student's grades suffer, attendance is a problem or they leave school," Rush said.

"The purpose of any school is to disseminate accurate information and we should not restrict learning, no matter what your feelings are about sex education," the principal said.

"You can't tell the kids you shouldn't have the information when it's the purpose of a school to give information," Rush said.

Superintendent of schools Robert N. Vickers said that teachers want direction from the board on how much information should be offered to students.

"Some people view sex education as encouraging sex, but we had more teachers than parents the other night at school. From the board's standpoint, we shouldn't sit around and wait," Vickers said.

Board President Wilbert Glasgow said, "I believe it's time we take the initiative here. This is American Education Week, and we had more teachers than parents the other night at school. From the board's standpoint, we shouldn't sit around and wait."

The board president said the Urban League also is working with young men concerning their responsibility in sex through a church program.

Grade School Principal Seth

Kirkpatrick said sex education begins in the seventh grade when students learn about the reproductive system in class.

"I don't think it's too soon from the sixth grade on," he said, when students are 11 and 12 years old.

Board Member Patricia King gave high marks to Parents Plus, an agency which utilizes volunteers who primarily work with teen-age mothers.

According to a bulletin from the Illinois Association of School Boards, school districts that offer courses in sex education and family life also will be required to teach kids to abstain from sex until marriage, administrators said.

The bulletin also stated that the National School Boards Association has received a one-year grant from the Centers for Disease Control to conduct an AIDS education program.

The grant will be used to develop an in-service education program to be used by state school boards associations in training local board members to address the need for AIDS education programs.

The training will focus on school board policy development, curricular options for AIDS instruction, involvement of parents and other community members, development and selection of curriculum materials, and in-service training of staff.

A handbook will be published to help local school board members establish AIDS education programs in their schools.

Warriors run out of gas vs. Sparta; beat Flyers in OT

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

JACKSONVILLE — If the warrior team has the same problem on the way home as the Warriors had in the second half on Friday night, someone's going to have to run to the nearest filling station with a can.

The Warriors simply ran out of gas after the intermission and dropped an 80-53 decision to Sparta in their third game at the Crimson Classic at the Jacksonville Civic Center.

After making a nice run at the end of the first half to gain a 39-39 tie, Granite City was outscored 41-14 in the second half.

"We just ran out of gas, pure and simple," Warrior coach Don Deterding said. "We're young and we're not that big and strong. The overtime today took a lot out of us."

The overtime was in an exciting 66-62 win over Southwestern Conference rival East St. Louis earlier on Friday. Mike A. Wilkinson hit five three-pointers in the game and John Van Buskirk converted seven of eight free throws in overtime for the Warriors' only win in three tries.

Play went to play. Gregory in their last game of the tournament at noon Saturday.

"We made a nice run at them at the end of the half, but when we came back in here at halftime I could tell they had just about had it," Deterding said of the Sparta game. "We tried, but it just wasn't there. But our goal was to win one up here and we have done that. If we could go home with two wins, I would be tickled to death."

Junior center Jodie Crenshaw led the Warriors with 13 points against Sparta. The Warriors fell behind 19-9 after one quarter and it was 33-24 late in the half thanks to the Warriors' lead.

Dave Brown (27 points for the Bulldogs). But Ken Gray's steal and layup made it 37-37 with a basket and Mike R. Wilkinson's jumper gave the Warriors their only lead of the game.

The Bulldogs (1-1) tied the game just before halftime, then scored the first eight points of the second half and never looked back. The Warriors made only 5

Grapplers take two of three in opener

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Two out of three ain't bad, especially in the opening match of the year.

That was the theme for the Warrior wrestling team on Wednesday as they opened the season with victories over Carbondale and Centralia, but dropped a 31-30 decision to Edwardsville at Memorial Gymnasium.

"Of course you would like to win all three matches, but considering we had eight underclassmen going, we're happy with the results," said Warrior coach Mike Garland, who was making his coaching debut.

There were some mistakes made, but I think we can work them out and be ready to face the Edwardsville again later in the year.

The Warriors scored a 49-13 win over Carbondale and a 40-26 win over Centralia. Todd Hutchinson (98 pounds), Brent Davis (119), James Moss (126) and Rich Fenoglio (145) each won all three of their matches.

Against Carbondale, Hutchinson won on a forfeit. Davis scored a 25-9 technical fall victory. Moss got a 22-5 technical fall win and Fenoglio won 14-0.

Against Centralia, Hutchinson won by forfeit. Davis won on a fall at 1:40. Moss won on a fall at 1:53 and Fenoglio won 11-0.

Against Edwardsville, Hutchinson won on a fall at 3:32. Davis won on a fall at 1:08. Moss won by default at 2:00 and Fenoglio won on a fall at 3:13. Dale Hutchinson and 4-2 against Edwardsville. Rich Smallie (105 pounds) and Scott Wilson (112) won two of three matches. Jerold Moss (132), Grant Abendroth (138), Chris Hoffman (150), Dan Grayson (167) and Terry Stanley (185) each won one of three matches. Avak Karibian spelled Hutson in the heavyweight match against Centralia and was pinned at 1:30.

"Fenoglio did a very good job all night, as did Davis and Moss," Garland said. "And even though Hutchinson got two forfeit wins, he was very strong in the other one."

"Hutson was a pleasant surprise at heavyweight. We put him in because of Ross Karbarski's bad knee and were very pleased with how it turned out. Karbarski has an injury to the same knee he hurt in the holiday tournament last year, but we don't know the extent of it yet."

The opening meet was a stepping stone for the Warriors, who face Roxana at home on Friday. They then travel to Bloomington for a quad meet with Bloomington, Peoria Central and Pekin.

"We like getting tough competition like this early so we can find out what we have and what we need to work on," Garland said.

Hockey alumni game Dec. 28

Warrior hockey stars of the past will gather together for a little reminiscing, a little hockey and a Christmas party on Dec. 28.

The Granite City High School hockey program will hold its first alumni game on that date at the Wilson Park Ice Rink. All former Warrior skaters who have graduated from high school and played for the Warriors in the Mid States Club Hockey Association are invited to attend.

To sign up, former players must contact Warrior coach Gary Henson at 797-6015 or sign up at the rink on Wednesdays through Dec. 23 at 8:15 p.m. Players must fill out a registration form and a waiver of injury form.

If enough players sign up, two games of two periods each will be played. The players will receive jerseys which they will be able to keep.

The game is being played as a fundraiser for the Warrior hockey program. Admission is $3 for the general public. Refreshments will be served. The evening will last from approximately 6:30-9:45 p.m.

For more information, call Henson at 797-6015.

Hunt on Dec. 5 at Horseshoe Lake

Granite City lost its season opener against the host team on Thanksgiving night. The Crimson used 35 points from their shooter, 4-1 senior Andy Kaufmann, to gain a 62-47 victory.

"I thought that was the best defensive game we've played in three years," Deterding said. "They (Jacksonville) had 97 points in their next game and 101 tonight, so I was very encouraged with that game. The defense has to play well, but we were just too fatigued tonight to keep it up."

"I think we're going to win more games than I thought. We won't win them pretty. It will be like football teams winning in the pits. We have played very hard up here."

Kaufmann, as expected, was the star of the tournament through the first two days. In addition to his 38 against the Warriors, he clocked in with 50 in a 97-72 win over Sparta on Friday afternoon. Then he got 30 in only three quarters of play as the Crimson ripped Chicago St. Gregory 101-63 later on Friday.

East St. Louis knocked off St. Gregory 87-74 in the opener behind Lennie Gooch's 29 points. The last four games of the five-team round robin tournament were to be played Saturday.

F. Lee Bailey to give talk

Defense attorney F. Lee Bailey will speak at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville on Tuesday, Dec. 1 at 7:30 p.m. in Meridian Hall.

Bailey, whose clients have ranged from kidnapped heiress Patricia Hearst, to the Boston Strangler, will address the topic, "The Defense Never Rests." His appearance is part of the University's Arts and Issues Series.

After attending Harvard University, Bailey joined the Naval flight training program and, in 1962, transferred to the Marines as a jet pilot. While a member of the military, Bailey volunteered to join the legal staff at the Cherry Point Marine Corps Air Station in North Carolina. There he became the legal officer for more than 2,000 men.

According to the Saturday Evening Post, it was then that Bailey became convinced, "You can learn enough to practice criminal law without ever going to law school."

Bailey's experience in defending accused servicemen before court martial and his reading of Lloyd Paul Stryker's book, "The Art of Advocacy: A Plea for the Renaissance of the Trial Lawyer," led him to decide upon law as a career. He was discharged from the Marines in 1956, and in 1960, he graduated from Boston University Law School and was admitted to practice.

Bailey is a former co-chairman of the Criminal Law Section of the Association of Trial Lawyers of America, as well as the former chairman of the Penal Reform Committee for the Association of Trial Lawyers of America. In addition, he has served as the co-chairman of the Foundation for the Advancement of Inmate Rehabilitation and Recreation.

Bailey is the author of three best-selling non-fiction books: "The Defense Never Rests," "For the Defense," and "Cleared for the Approach." In addition, he has written a best-selling novel, "Secrets," the story of a lawyer who is charged with murder.

Tickets for the Bailey address, and for all Arts and Issues Series events, are $3 and are available at the University Center ticket office. SIUE students, as well as area university and community college students holding Cougar Cards, and high school students holding SIUE Gold Cougar Cards, may attend free.

Students may obtain tickets to all Arts and Issues Series events at the University Center ticket office or at the door on a first-come basis. Admission tickets include free parking at the visitors' lot next to the University Center.

To learn more, call 692-2320.
